

Call for applications

Friedrich-Alexander-Universität Erlangen-Nürnberg (FAU)

The Faculty of Humanities, Social Sciences, and Theology invites applications for a

W2 Professorship for Cultural and Social Anthropology

for a duration of five years to be filled by the earliest possible starting date. The professorship will be established to coincide with the creation of the new 'Standards of Decision-Making Across Cultures' elite degree programme within the Elite Network of Bavaria.

The successful candidate is expected to represent the field adequately and systematically in teaching and research. We are seeking a professor who is willing to contribute actively to the research areas and initiatives of the International Consortium for Research in the Humanities and interdisciplinary collaborations within the faculty. The professor will be expected to participate in degree programme development, deliver innovative teaching and learning concepts and work closely with project partners.

Prerequisites for the position are a university degree, university level teaching experience, a proven research profile which is demonstrated by an doctoral degree in Philosophy, Sociology, Cultural Studies or Asian Studies and additional academic qualifications. These should be in the form of a Habilitation (post-doctoral thesis) or equivalent academic publications. The necessary qualifications may also have been acquired in a non-university context or through a junior faculty position (e.g. W1 Professor or Assistant Professor).

FAU expects applicants to become actively involved in the administration of academic affairs and welcomes experience in managing research projects and raising third-party funding.

The University of Erlangen-Nürnberg pursues a policy of intense student mentoring and therefore expects its teaching staff to be present during lecture periods.

FAU is a family-friendly employer and is also responsive to the needs of dual career couples. In its pursuit of academic excellence, FAU is committed to equality of opportunity and to a proactive and inclusive approach, which supports and encourages all under-represented groups, promotes an inclusive culture and values diversity.

Please submit your complete application documents (CV, list of publications, list of lectures and courses taught and certified copies of certificates and degrees) to the Dean of the Faculty of Humanities, Social Sciences and Theology, Prof. Dr. Rainer Trinczek FAU Erlangen-Nürnberg, Hindenburgstr. 34, 91054 Erlangen by April 14th, 2017. Please also send an electronic version to phil-dekanat@fau.de.

Call for applications

Friedrich-Alexander-Universität Erlangen-Nürnberg (FAU)

The Faculty of Humanities, Social Sciences, and Theology invites applications for a

W1 Junior Professorship for Ethnology (Focusing on Asia)

for an initial period of three years to be filled by the earliest possible starting date. Depending on successful evaluation, the appointment may be extended for another three years. The professorship will be established to coincide with the creation of the new 'Standards of Decision-Making Across Cultures' elite degree programme within the Elite Network of Bavaria.

The successful candidate is expected to represent the field adequately and systematically in teaching and research. In addition to an extensive familiarity with Asia or East Asia in research and suitable language proficiency, we are seeking a professor who is willing to contribute actively to the research areas and initiatives of the International Consortium for Research in the Humanities and interdisciplinary collaborations within the faculty. The appointed professor will spend equal periods at FAU and the University of Peking. They will also be expected to participate in degree programme development, deliver innovative teaching and learning concepts and work closely with project partners.

Prerequisites for the position are a university degree, university level teaching experience and a proven research profile which is demonstrated by an excellent doctoral degree in Ethnology, Cultural Studies, Asian Studies or Chinese Studies.

FAU expects applicants to become actively involved in the administration of academic affairs and welcomes experience in managing research projects and raising third-party funding.

The University of Erlangen-Nürnberg pursues a policy of intense student mentoring and therefore expects its teaching staff to be present during lecture periods.

FAU is a family-friendly employer and is also responsive to the needs of dual career couples. In its pursuit of academic excellence, FAU is committed to equality of opportunity and to a proactive and inclusive approach, which supports and encourages all under-represented groups, promotes an inclusive culture and values diversity.

Please submit your complete application documents (CV, list of publications, list of lectures and courses taught and certified copies of certificates and degrees) to the Dean of the Faculty of Humanities, Social Sciences and Theology, Prof. Dr. Rainer Trinczek, FAU Erlangen-Nürnberg, Hindenburgstr. 34, 91054 Erlangen by April 14th, 2017. Please also send an electronic version to phil-dekanat@fau.de